'Dead' Hinted In Capone Case

Norman Baker

RIVER JUNCTION — LONG TREE—going to be there Sunday—big all day community picnic—everybody invited—bring your baskets—I will try my best to interest you with a subject for my talk that will hit the problems of the day and SOME OTHER THINGS. Come, all of you—and don't be timid about coming up and shaking hands.

CHEWING THE RAG — that's what many are doing now especially those whom we placed all trust in—gave them our votes—and now all we get is an entanglement of ideas—WITH NONE CONSTRUCTIVE—the best one I can offer right now is—remember how you run your own business—you practice economy—you cut down your overhead—you make every dollar count—to start a big help towards getting us out of our present deplorable condition—let every public official, state, city and national—start cutting out the "top-heavy" expense of his or her department—quit crying more business—practice such extreme business tactics in every branch of the government that the saving will enable taxes to be cut—NOT INCREASED.

TURNER'S INCOME TAX was an example—no greater bug-a-boo was ever offered the public than that—have him the governor's check—turn over to him the income tax—practical for all concerned—it suggested unfairness—one-sidedness—nothing equal about it—for that reason IT WAS LOST IN THE ASSEMBLY. That blunder cost Turner the governor's chair for the second term. He should have started to clean house of the overburdened department expense—in that way he could have saved enough without MORE NEW SCHEMES — it would at least have been more sensible than calling out THE STATE TROOPS TO RUN DOWN FARMERS—all of whom were excellent, law-abiding residents of IOWA — too much, entirely too much of such MONKEY BUSINESS GOING ON.

UNSIGNED LETTER — just received one sent to me in a local hotel envelope—they enclosed an article from the Farm Journal — it preaches practically the same as I have advocated—"Faith and a Big Co-operative" meaning ONE BIG FARM ORGANIZATION FOR THE FARMERS — then when that day comes—the farmer need never worry again—IT'S COMING—keep on getting busy, farmers, and don't be misled by false promises of any leaders who pat you on the back and tell you that three or four farm organizations will get you anywhere, BUT DEEPER IN THE MIRE—just open your eyes and look around you—see what other classes have done by KEEPING IN ONLY ONE ORGANIZATION—they lick you.

CERMAK—mayor of Chicago—went to New York to attend a fight—he met Al Smith and Roosevelt—they talked politics—they talked about economic conditions and booze—if either comes out on a booze platform, they ARE LIKED — it is time that this booze thing remain dormant for awhile when it comes to politics—we have had too much of this football stuff and NOT ENOUGH REAL ACTION ON THINGS THAT will take us out of the depression and unfair taxation—it is taxes that the public is mostly interested in now—I feel we all agree that the day of the saloons will NEVER RETURN—still others feel that the prohibition enforcement plan as now used — IS WRONG—too expensive—too much shooting—too much killing — too much graft.

SUNDAY NIGHT—I am going to see the folks at North Henderson Lutheran Church place—big social—let me know what my talk for that night will be—I get there and what they want to hear is BE THERE, and good time.

GANGMEN LAUGH AT NEW YORK'S POLICE AGENTS

Massacre of Child Is Cause of Attempt To Cleanup City

By DAVID F. SENTNER
NEW YORK (INS)—The underworld today laughed in the face of an aroused citizenry and the police gang-war order of "shoot to kill" issued in connection with the Wanton machine-gun killing of one child and the wounding of four others during an unsuccessful gangster raid.

Suggestive of the method used last Tuesday night at the "children's massacre," gunmen shot down and killed Guido Ferreri, 26, clothing manufacturer, today as he talked with a neighbor outside his Brooklyn home.

On that bloody night in Harlem's Little Italy, an automobile drove through the street where crowds of children were playing. A volley of bullets streamed forth from machine guns. The intended victim of the fusillade escaped. Only five children were killed and three brothers were wounded.

Today, again an automobile was used. It stopped before the Ferreri home as the victim's mother, two sisters and three brothers watched.

Three men were in the murder car. Next to the driver sat a hoodlum with a sawed-off shot-gun. He began pumping bullets. Ferreri's mother screamed. Ferreri crumpled. The murder auto roared away.

Today, only through the law of chance, no children were hit. Nor Ferreri's mother, Antonette, and his sisters, Florence and Mildred, who were just about to join him outside to accompany him downtown.

DIVORCED WIFE KILLS HER MAN

Shot Frees Woman of What Court Writ Did Not Do

CHICAGO (INS)—Taunting her and heedless of her warning as he stepped forward, Edward J. O'Connor, 31, was shot and killed here today by his divorced wife, Mrs. Bernice Wyosky Fletcher O'Connor who fired three bullets into his chest.

The pistol fired by the woman today won for her what a court injunction restraining O'Connor from molesting her failed to do. Mrs. O'Connor, who is 24, had obtained an injunction from Judge Daniel P. Trude forbidding her former husband from entering her apartment. She was planning to leave the city to avoid his attentions.

RUTH GETS NO BURNS, PUT OUT

Babe Gets an Assist When He Quells Hotel Fire

BOSTON (INS)—Babe Ruth, the home run king of baseball, appeared in a new role today—a fire fighter.

He was credited with a putout and assist, with no runs, no hits, no errors for the fire department.

Looking from his window on the fifth floor of a hotel, the Babe saw an awning blazing on the third floor hotel balcony. He got to work right away with pitchers of ice water. Between tosses the Babe took time out for a telephone call to the hotel office.

George H. Parsons, chief of the hotel kitchen, hastened along the fire extinguisher and assisted the Babe. There was no need for calling firemen.

The WEATHER man says

MUSCATINE, SUNRISE, 4:37; SUNSET, 7:35.

IOWA: Unsettled and continued warm tonight. Probably showers and cooler tomorrow.

ILLINOIS: Partly cloudy and continued warm tonight. Saturday unsettled, followed by local showers and cooler in north portion.

MISSOURI: Partly cloudy and unsettled tonight. Saturday, probably showers and not so warm in northwest portion.

GENERAL FORECAST: The indications for considerable cloudiness in the north-central states tonight and Saturday with showers and rather cool weather over northern portions tonight and over the Upper Great Lakes region, the Upper Mississippi and middle Mississippi valleys, and the middle plains on Saturday. On Sunday there will be considerable cloudiness over the eastern portion of this forecast district with occasional showers and temperatures more nearly normal.

Public Enemy Meets 'Hard' Jurist

The above picture shows Al Capone, boss chief, tax evader, and public enemy number one, who has "fired" many things, but who has encountered a jurist that is "unfired," unwilling to take part in a compromise between prosecuting and defense counsel. As soon as federal judge James H. Wilkerson intimated that he would hear all the evidence against "Scarface Al," public enemy number one, and might decide to sentence him to a great part of the maximum 34 years on two charges, there was a great flurry among Capone's lawyers.

COOLING WINDS—BRING RELIEF

Lower Temperatures Are Recorded in Middle West

(By International News Service)
Cooling winds and thunderstorms today had broken the sweltering heat that has crippled many sections of the country for days.

Parts of the eastern seaboard, however, still suffered from the heat wave. The thermometer climbed to 97 Thursday in Baltimore where thousands sought relief by sleeping in the parks. The national capital looked forward to another scorching day after recording a 98 degree temperature Thursday.

In Boston seven persons died of the heat, but the torrid wave was broken by cooling winds, which promised to keep temperatures in New England and New York in the eighties. Six died of the heat and three were drowned in New York city yesterday where the mercury climbed to 89.

Throughout the middle west temperatures were lower although readings above ninety and 100 were recorded in Iowa and Nebraska.

Rains and clouds also brought cooler weather to the Rocky Mountain region where Pueblo, Colo., with 96 had the highest temperature.

Deaths due to the heat wave that struck the southwest stood at 83 today as temperatures dropped sharply following thunderstorms. Temperatures on the Pacific coast were normal.

WILD PARTIES BEING PROBED

Former Collector of Revenue Accused of Being Hostess

CHICAGO (INS)—Accused in court of being hostess, at a number of wild parties in her apartment, Mrs. Myrtle Tanner Blackledge, former collector of internal revenue, vehemently denied the charge today.

Attired in purple pajamas and a blue-figured lounge robe, the former government official expressed surprise when questioned about the complaint.

"The complaint is absurd," she said. "One party is supposed to have taken place May 1. I didn't move here until May 12. My parties never were noisy, and the police on each occasion found nothing wrong and left us alone."

To support denial Mrs. U. S. Greener, who occupies the apartment above that of Mrs. Blackledge, called the former government official a model neighbor.

Two American Globe Girdlers Leave Moscow for Siberia Area

MOSCOW (INS)—Hugh Herndon, Jr., and Clyde Pangborn, the second team of American round-the-world fliers to visit Moscow within the past month, hopped off from Moscow for an undetermined point in Siberia today at 5:30 p. m. (10:30 a. m. Eastern daylight time).

The airmen stopped in Moscow less than six hours, during which time they attended a luncheon tendered them by the Osoaviakhim, the official Soviet aeronautical organization, while their plane was being refueled.

SECOND MURDER IN WEEK STUNS ILLINOIS TOWN

Equality Miner Found Shot to Death on Highway

EQUALITY, Ill. (INS)—This usually quiet little coal mining community was stirred today by the second violent death here within a week.

Gallatin county authorities, still busy investigating the shooting to death of Constable Hiram Mundy near his home here Tuesday, tonight were confronted with another mysterious shooting with the finding of the body of Ed Kinkade, 52, an Equality miner, on the highway north of town last night.

A passerby found Kinkade's body lying about ten feet in front of his car at 8 o'clock last night. There was a bullet-hole through his temple, made either by a 38 or 45 caliber pistol, authorities said.

Will Hold Inquest

Although Kinkade's own gun, with empty chambers, was found nearby, the Gallatin county authorities were not inclined towards a suicide theory. The date for the formal inquest has not been set.

Mundy, a 34-year-old miner, body two attempts on his life in the past year were recalled. Last winter Kinkade reported that several sticks of dynamite had been attached to the starter of his automobile. The rough infernal machine failed to work however because of faulty wiring. Later the automobile in which Kinkade was riding from Kinkade to Equality was fired upon by unknown persons several bullets piercing the body of the car.

LINDBERGH HOP GIVEN SETBACK

Officials of Canada And Flier Argue Over Route

OTTAWA, Ontario (INS)—Charles A. Lindbergh today definitely announced to an International News Service correspondent that he would take the northern route across Canada on his way to Tokyo.

OTTAWA (INS)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and officers of the Royal Canadian air forces today were at loggerheads over the route which the Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh should take on their flight across northern Canada en route to Japan.

Colonel Lindbergh has refused to accept the suggestion of the Canadian authorities that the northern route be especially dangerous at this time of year, it was understood. He has insisted on taking the uncharted route to the north instead of the more southerly way along the Mackenzie river, which the Canadian fliers have urged him to follow. The southern route was followed by Post and Gatty in their record dash around the world.

Following the shooting earlier in the week of Constable Hiram Mundy, two men who fired upon the officer when he attempted to investigate their car, two men, a father and son, William Barnett and his son Morris were arrested on suspicion. About a year ago Mundy shot to death John Barnett, son of William Barnett in a dance hall quarrel near Equality.

The spot where Kinkade's body was found last night was in Gallatin county only one hundred yards distant from the Saline county line.

TURKEY HAILS OCEAN FLIERS

U. S. Airmen Who Made Distance Mark Are Given Welcome

By J. H. WALTON
ISTANBUL, Turkey (INS)—Russell Boardman and John Poldado, who established a new non-stop distance record by flying 5,014 miles from Brooklyn, N. Y., to this exotic meeting place east and west, were being feted today by Turkish officials and members of the American colony here.

So far they have not confirmed the report that they would, having achieved their objective, continue their flight around the world.

The two Massachusetts fliers said they would remain in Istanbul about three days.

After their forty-nine hour vigil while their black and gold plane, the Cape Cod, soared over the Atlantic and western Europe to drop unexpectedly down at the San Stephano airfield here yesterday, the two newest heroes of the air, slept long and soundly.

LLOYD GEORGE MUCH IMPROVED

LONDON (INS)—The condition of David Lloyd George was reported satisfactory by his physicians today. They stated that the former premier and liberal leader had passed a comfortable night.

The statesman underwent a major operation Wednesday for haematuria, a kidney trouble.

LOS ANGELES BATTLE

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (INS)—Harry Langdon, film comedian, and his wife, today had lost a court battle with James F. Dickson, real estate broker, who was awarded a judgment for $11,129 on two promissory notes executed by the Langdons in purchasing a house.

Woman Identifies Marrying Brakeman

EAGLE RIVER, Wis. (INS)—George W. E. (Jiggs) Perry, "Marrying Brakeman" on trial here for the murder of Mrs. Cora Belle Hackett, was positively identified today by Mrs. Anna L. Dever as the man she had seen on the morning of the murder at the deserted road near the place where the body was found.

ZEPPELIN BACK IN HOME TOWN

Arctic Voyage Adds to Its Long List of Achievements

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany (INS)—With an arctic voyage of discovery added to its list of splendid achievements, the Graf Zeppelin arrived back at its little home town on the shore of the Lake of Constance at 4:35 a. m. today.

Most of the population of this town, famous as the headquarters of zeppelins, were present to greet the Graf with loud "hoos" as she came down from the sky to repose in one of the great hangars.

The log of the Graf now includes, besides the dirigible's penetration of the arctic circle, a voyage round the world, a crossing of the equator, flights to both hemispheres and passages over five continents.

Further details of the voyage to the arctic became known when the Graf disembarked its fifteen passengers, a dozen of whom were scientists and explorers.

Professor Moisehanov, one of the Russian members of the expedition, revealed that four of his new weather balloons were released during the flight and signaled valuable data automatically from great heights.

The zeppelin had been isolated from radio contact with the outside world for 30 hours by an atmospheric barrier which he termed as a "heavy-side layer," the professor said.

Passengers described the flight of polar bears, schools of walrus and Arctic birds which they first saw the silvery dirigible.

36 New Yorkers Are Received by Pope

VATICAN CITY (INS)—Thirty-six New Yorkers, led by the Paulist Father Cartright, were received in audience by Pope Pius XI today. His holiness also received Mrs. Katherine Wood of New York, and a Miss Brennan and her brother of Paterson, N. J.

The Pope later granted an audience to sixteen sailors from the British battleship Royal Oak.

"I am pleased to see sailors," the Pope told them, "because I am the successor to the navigator of the church, which ship has made much headway and will do more."

CHARGES PLAN TO GET SHORT PEN SENTENCE

Minnesota Senator to Demand a Complete Investigation

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (INS)—Charging the federal department of justice with entering into a "deal" to obtain a lighter sentence for Al Capone, Senator Thomas D. Schall today demanded all the details of the reported agreement between Capone's attorney, Michael Ahern, and George E. D. Johnson, federal prosecutor in Chicago.

Schall wired the department of justice in Washington asking to be given the correspondence which passed between Johnson and the department, subsequent to Capone's plea of guilty to charges of violating the prohibition law and of defrauding the government in his income tax returns.

"The conduct of this case merits a thorough investigation," Senator Schall said, "and I'm going to get to the bottom of it. The public is entitled to know details of the deal through which Capone, the king of gangland, continued to get off with a minimum sentence."

Washington Silent

Deep and embarrassed silence reigned about the department of justice today over the surprising turn of the Al Capone case.

Officials of the department had anticipated that the gangland chief would be on his way to Leavenworth today, and a letter of protest for the subordination who handled the case was all ready to be given out by the department.

But Judge George W. Wilkerson's refusal to fall in with a gentleman's agreement between Capone and the department, whereby he would receive a light sentence in exchange for a plea of guilty, knocked all the plans away.

Decline To Discuss Case

Attorney General Cummings declined to discuss any phase of the case, or to admit that he had approved the "gentleman's agreement." It is well known, however, that he had approved it, for it could not have been made without his sanction.

The understanding between justice and treasury officials was that Capone would get a sentence of two and one-half years.

The way matters stand now, Capone's lawyers can charge that their client was "tricked" by the department of justice into pleading guilty. They can, and probably will, charge the government with bad faith. It is all very embarrassing to the attorney general and his staff, so much so that all questions go unanswered at the department.

PLAN FIGHT ON GRASSHOPPER

State to Buy Poison Bran to Combat Menace

DES MOINES (INS)—Poison bran for combating the grasshopper menace will be purchased by the state and distributed within two or three days, Mark G. Thornburg, secretary of agriculture, said today.

Thornburg, returning from a mass meeting held at Mondamin yesterday afternoon, said that the farmers are willing and anxious to cooperate with state officials in ridding the state of the pests.

Crop damage is not serious, declared the secretary, who examined infested areas yesterday.

All bids on poison bran supplies should be in today, he said, enabling the state to purchase within a very short time.

Contrary to earlier reports, Thornburg said this morning that it is very improbable that the state will use airplane spraying to combat the pest. The cost of such methods would be prohibitive, he said.

Father's Sacrifice To Save Son's Life Proves to Be Vain

NORTH PLATTE, Nebr. (INS)—A father's heroic sacrifice of his own life in an attempt to save the life of his son today had proved vain.

Burdette Leyoldt, 23, died last night of burns suffered June 22 in a gasoline explosion.

His father died July 25 from infection which set in after he had allowed extensive portions of skin to be taken from his back in an effort to save his son's life.

DRIVE TO STOP 'WILD' DRIVING LAUNCHED HERE

State Man Nabs Five
Who Fail to Heed
A Stop Sign

Drive against traffic law violations on state highways, launched here Thursday by Ray Crabb of Maquoketa, state automobile inspector, netted the arrest of five local motorists, all charged with failing to observe the stop sign on route No. 61 at Grandview avenue and Oregon street interest the highway.

Four of the group pleaded guilty when arraigned before Justice J. C. Coster, and were fined $1 and costs each. They are R. G. Holcomb, J. Richers, H. Orren and E. H. Groves. H. L. Fryberger entered a plea of not guilty and his hearing was set for 11 a. m. Tuesday.

The drive against reckless driving on state highways will be continued through the state all this summer, Mr. Crabb states. Checkers will return to Muscatine from time to time, for the investigation. Mr. Crabb is working alone here at the present time, but other members of the state department, who are conducting investigations in other parts of the state, usually work in pairs.

Many lives have been lost through recklessness on the part of automobile drivers, Mr. Crabb pointed out, and the drive is aimed particularly to reduce the "cutting in" of motorists who pass another car, failure to observe stop signs, speeding of trucks, and the crossing of the center line at a curve.

AUBURN'S ANCIENT CELL BLOCK GOES FOR MODERN ONES

AUBURN, N. Y. — (INS)—The ancient south wing cell block, scene of murders and much bloodshed, passes forever on Aug. 1, marking a new crossroads in the checkered history of the century-old Auburn prison. That day is down as moving day for the inmates—transferred then to the new south cell block.

Details of the shift of the hundreds of men have been worked out by Warden Joseph H. Brophy. The opening of the new cell block marks the passing of the old "bucket brigade" as all new cells will have their own running water and lavatories. The new structure has 640 cells, of which 110 are for men in isolation.

Electricians were the last to work on the new cell block, on which 27 painters were at work for three and a half months. An idea of the magnitude of the painting job is apparent in the vast amount of paint required. Eight tons of white lead and five barrels of varnish were used, with about 1,200 pounds of bronze for the finishing touches.

Work is now under way on the new north wing, which will be similar in design and equipment. It will have 410 cells, so that the completed prison will house about 1,000 convicts under the most modern housing conditions.

DISTRICT COURT

The final report in the estate of Mary E. Wiles was filed today by Attorney E. P. Ingham, and Aug. 10, at 10 a. m., was set by the court as the time for the final hearing.

An order appointing A. L. Madden as commissioner to take charge of mortgaged property involved in the suit of H. C. Madden, trustee of the estate of Gertrude Singleton against Walter Hagman, and others, was signed by Judge D. V. Jackson today. The property is in section 29-77-1W.

Troy K. Allbee, plaintiff in a suit against Thomas Agar and Fieda Agar, filed her release of a lien of judgment against land owned by Agar in section 24-77-2W. The property was previously mortgaged to the Midland Mortgage company. G. Allbee is attorney for the estate.

Motion by the defendants to dissolve the temporary writ of injunction in the case of Thomas Hunsate and Inona Hunsate against H. D. Horst and other was over-ruled by Judge Jackson in court today.

The afternoon at the court house with township and publicity chairman to plan work for the coming year.

JULY PROVED WARM AND DRY

Lack of Sufficient
Month's Report

July, 1931, proved a hot and dry month, according to the official weather report for that period issued today by William Molis, local observer.

The average temperature for the month was 74 degrees while in 1930 the average was 72.1 degrees. The highest temperatures during the month were 84 degrees on July 1, and July 29. The lowest temperature recorded in the month was 66 degrees on July 12.

The total rainfall in the month was 2.51, while in the same months in 1930, the precipitation was 2.23 inches. The records show that less than one-fourth of an inch of rain fell since July 12. The month's rainfall was as follows: July 2 and 3, .95 of an inch; July 8, .75 of an inch; July 11, .58 of an inch; July 18 and 19, .23 of an inch.

There were 11 clear days, 10 cloudy days, eight partly cloudy and two days of rain.

Lack of rains in the north caused the Mississippi river today to reach the lowest stage of the year which was 1.9 feet. The average stage for the past month was 3.9 feet. The highest stage, 8.1 feet, recorded on July 9. The average stage for July 1930, was 5.4 feet.

New Cancer Treatment Shows Up Preachments of Many Physicians

PARIS.—(INS)—Details of a new treatment for cancer were given to the International Radiology congress meeting here today by Dr. Boris Sokoloff, of St. Louis University Medical school.

The treatment is that involving the use of Lactic acid, which, injected under the skin of the patient, has been found to have an arrest in effect on the growth and multiplication of cancer cells and tumor growths, Dr. Sokoloff said.

The above item will be read with considerable interest in Muscatine and the territory served by the Free Press and station K-TNT. When shown the item, Norman Baker, formerly operator of the Baker hospital here, made the following comment:

"People should not get excited over this," Mr. Baker stated. "It is interesting, of course, because of the preachments by local doctors and the organized medicals that there is no successful method of treating cancer except the knife, x-rays and radium."

"There are hundreds of cancer treatments except those boosted by the doctors who have heavy investments in x-rays machines and radium. The Baker hospital has successfully treated cancer since its organization in 1929 and one of the most effective treatments has been by injection. I have talked hundreds of time on the radio and have written many articles regarding the fallacies of the knife, x-rays and radium as cancer treatments. Dr. Sokoloff apparently is an independent thinker."

"The trouble with doctors and cancer is that the former do not spend enough time investigating the latter. They worry about what causes it but let someone else do their thinking for them when it comes to curing it."

"I have asked everyone in authority from President Hoover down the line to Governor Turner to investigate the work of the Baker hospital but without results. Yet, the day will come when the cures effected in Muscatine at the Baker hospital will be universally recognized—perhaps, even by the organized medicals. Then they will realize the time and effort they have wasted in searching for something which the Baker hospital has always had."

DEEDS RECORDED

To Breaking Into Beverlin Home

William McBee, 37, of Burlington, was sentenced this afternoon by Judge D. V. Jackson to serve a term of six months in the county jail on the plea of guilty to burglary of the home of Thomas Beverlin on July 14.

McBee was arrested following the burglary with Bernice Henderson, who pleaded guilty several days later and was committed to the women's reformatory at Rockwell City for a period of six months. Both were accused of taking a gold watch belonging to Beverlin.

McBee told the court he had met the Henderson woman after his arrival here with a carnival company. They obtained a screw driver and pried open the window of the Beverlin home which is on the river front.

Attorney John Hale of Burlington, who represented McBee in court, said the prisoner was a world war veteran and had been treated for a number of years in a sanitarium for a disability. A record of his arrest in Los Angeles, Calif., in 1928, on a charge of grand larceny, was introduced in court by County Attorney Harold Wilson, who filed the information against McBee.

IMPROVEMENTS BEING MADE AT CANNING PLANT

Output of Midwestern Concern Here Will Be Increased

Improvements including the erection of a two story, brick addition to the Midwestern Food Products corporation plant on Hershey avenue are expected to be completed within the next month or six weeks, according to announcement made today by J. R. Giesler, manager. The new building will be used as a part of the ketchup plant. Complete cost of the improvements will total approximately $70,000 Mr. Giesler announced.

With the new improvements the ketchup output will be increased about 400 percent, amounting to approximately 50 carloads a year, the pumpkin canning capacity will be increased to about 65 carloads a year, the tomato output to about 125 carloads a year and the ketchup capacity to about 1,000 gallons an hour.

The concern is also planning to increase the output of pickles and relish, canned for the first time at the local plant last year.

The improvements will mean the employment of between 500 and

Varied Program Given At U. B. Church Thursday

Due to car trouble at Omaha, Neb., the members of the Higgins family of Greensboro, N. C., were unable to appear in concert at the United Brethren church Thursday night.

When the group failed to arrive, an impromptu program was given as follows: selections by a boys' quartet, Lawrence Baker, Walter Brecklove, Allen McCormack and Ted Sulberger; vocal duet, Mary and Clara Pacey; vocal duet, Mrs. Julia Warner and Miss Georgia Davis; piano selection, Miss Flora Hussen; vocal solo, Mrs. Grace Hart; vocal duet, the Misses Hilda and Celia Thicker; mixed quartet selections, Mrs. Hart, Miss Pacey, Ted Sulberger and Lawrence Baker; vocal numbers by the Brown sisters accompanied by their mother, Mrs. Margaret Brown.

Lawn Social Proves Successful

Approximately 200 guests attended the lawn social given by the Veterans of Foreign War auxiliary Thursday night at the J. G. Dermody home, 2116 Mulberry avenue. The lawn was attractively decorated in the organization's colors of blue and orange. Starting at 5:30 the women served a chicken supper.

Committees for the event were: Mrs. Charles Fish was general chairman of the event and was assisted by the following committees: reception: the officers of the organization; Mrs. Warren Dodge, president; Mrs. James Tennyson, senior vice-president; Mrs. Harold Feustel, junior vice-president and Mrs. John Dermody, chaplain; chairman of tables, Mrs. Lena Richards; ladies sewing, Mrs. A. L. Brya; Mrs. George Gebhardt, Mrs. Guy Doshier, Mrs. Clara Levitt, Mrs. Gertrude Grossklaus, Mrs. William Stinson and Mrs. Elmer Ziegler; ice cream and pop, Miss Margaret Bises; Mrs. Lillian Martin and Mrs. Helen Tadelwald; candy booth, Mrs. Ethel Sick and Mrs. Florence Edmundo; fish pond, Mrs. Lena Mittman and Mrs. Gertrude Funk; coffee and ice cream, Mrs. Mabel Potter, Mrs. Julia Beyer and Mrs. Ida Walter; dining room, Mrs. Clarence Schwartz; chairman, Mrs. Anna Weigand, Mrs. Margaret Fish and Mrs. Mabel Pollock.

A supper was served at 5:30 p. m. with potato salad, chicken and tuna fish sandwiches, tomatoes, cold or hot drinks and ice cream and cake for a nominal fee. During the evening one of the main attractions was a fortune telling booth with Mrs. Frank Ellis in charge. Through the courtesy of Mr. and Mrs. McNealey of the Mulberry avenue golf course, free tickets were given to each lady attending the social.

The auxiliary members wish to thank all those who contributed toward the success of the event.

St. Mary's Aid Gives Party

Five hundred was played at seven tables Thursday afternoon when St. Mary's Ladies Aid society sponsored a party at the school hall. Mrs. George Fry and Miss Lucille Tobias won high scores in the game and special prizes were given to Mrs. Harry Schneider and Mrs. Fred Aull. Sewing formed the pastime of several of the guests.

At the business meeting held during the afternoon final plans were made for the lawn social to be sponsored by the aid August 5. A chicken supper will be served prior to the social starting at 5 o'clock.

Younger Set Enjoy Swimming Party

A number of the younger set enjoyed a swimming party at the gravel pit last evening, after which the party adjourned to Weed park where a picnic lunch was served. The number included Oliver Douglas, Jeanette Douglas, Margaret Asthalter, Faith Stamler, Ruth Demorest, Anna Marie Boston, Frances Cochran, Helen Sweet; Kenneth Bieber, John Heddie, Robert Asthalter, Merle Swisher, Francis Weise, Virgil Godfrey, John Van Lent.

Lady Elks Give Party

The Lady Elks sponsored a card party at the Elks home Thursday afternoon. Fifty guests participated in bridge and five hundred. Winners of bridge were Mrs. William Johnson, Mrs. Ella Haverkamp; in the five hundred game, Mrs. Nick Meyers.

Another party is planned for August 13, with Mrs. Hugh Wigim acting as chairman.

Duke, Hard Up, Sells Village

Littlehampton, a Sussex summer resort, discovered that it had changed hands and the inhabitants are wondering what the new owners are going to do with it. The young duke of Norfolk, proprietor of all property in Littlehampton, except the Catholic church, two hotels and one farm, has announced that he had sold his holdings to a real estate firm because of the heavy taxation.

The town council is perturbed, since the duke allowed the commons adjoining the sea front to be used by the public, and it is feared that the new owners may supplant the quiet green with shops.

The duke of Norfolk explained he needed the money and could not withhold the public green. He is 23 years old.

Miss Shepard Is Complimented

Miss Viola Shepard, a future bride, will be honored at a miscellaneous shower this evening by the Upstreamers class of the Park Ave. M. E. church, at the home of Miss Gladys Siesel, 101 Holly street.

A business meeting will be held in connection with the party.

The Evening Story

HER OWN BUSINESS

By Etta Webb

Mrs. Whipple stopped to ask Grace Baker what in the world she was doing. Grace was standing on a step-ladder, perched precariously. She had a hammer in her right hand and a nail between her even, white teeth. She drove in the nail with a skillful thump or two of the hammer before she answered her neighbor's question.

"You can see for yourself," she said cheerfully. "I'm putting up a sign. There! I'll step down so you can read it."

Painted in neat black letters on a white background were these words: "Comfortable Lodgings. Inquire within." Mrs. Whipple stared at her large face growing redder and redder.

"Why, Grace Baker! On this street in this neighborhood! Why, we never had such a thing here before! I don't believe folks will stand for it."

Grace studied the neat sign thoughtfully.

"It's my house," she said, quietly. "I've got a right to do as I please on my own premises, so long as I don't create a nuisance. I don't see how my taking a lodger does harm any of you, Mrs. Whipple."

"It lowers the tone of the whole street," wheezed Mrs. Whipple. Her double chin quaked with wrath. "We've always tried to have an elevated taste on this street. Not one of us has ever let a room be furnished a meal. We'd starve first."

"You mustn't mind me," said Mrs. Whipple. "I'm just a little old-fashioned. You Uncle Solomon's just left you! He'd turn over in his grave. Oh, you can't fool me! I know what you're doing for it. To spite Ella Griffin. Just because you and she had a little trouble over the line. Letting lodgings right under Ella's nose. I should think you'd be ashamed of yourself."

"Grace set her lips in a tight line. Too much had been said already. You couldn't argue with a woman who was as mad as Mrs. Whipple. In another moment the whole neighborhood would be buzzing round her ears like angry hornets. She had one way of escape. She went into her own house and shut the door.

In the seclusion and privacy of her dark front hall she leaned against the rickety newel post and wept. She had shed many bitter tears in her lifetime, but these were of all the bitterest. And only she knew why.

Meanwhile Mrs. Whipple went on down the street spreading the glad tidings. Children began to scamper to look at the new sign. Mrs. Dutcher and Ada Stack got to their heads together.

"I suppose she's going to be queer like her Uncle Sol," said Mrs. Dutcher. "You know they say those Bakers all are a little mite—"

An expressive nod finished the sentence.

"Well, I wouldn't think so if she hadn't just inherited a barrel of money," sighed Mrs. Dutcher. "It was in the paper how much she got. They printed his right out. 'My niece, Grace Mary Baker, I give and bequeath the sum of $30,000!—that was the way it read, wasn't it? I set it down in my mind word for word. And she's never done for it. You can't get a word out of her about anything. Close-mouthed. Takes after her mother that way. She's doing this to spite Ella Griffin."

Ella Griffin thought so too. She made herself as beautiful as possible and flew to consult her lawyer, Ed Cooley. Ed smiled in his quiet, goodhumored way.

"I don't see where you can do a thing to stop her, Ella," he said. "She's within her rights. She can cover her house with signs if she wants to."

There the matter rested.

It was a week before Grace's sign attracted any lodgers. Then came a car full of weary folks seeking rest and refreshment. Grace welcomed them, gave them steaming hot water, stacks of clean towels, comfortable, immaculate beds with a hint of rose leaves in the sheets. She prepared for them a plain, filling, tasty meal.

Her face was bright next morning after her quests went on their way. She went marketing with a light step. She sang as she shook her dust mop out the window right into Ella Griffin's blazing face.

After that it was no uncommon thing for Grace to have three automobiles parked in her narrow way in a single day. Her manner grew almost gay. She beamed upon everybody. But everybody didn't beam upon her.

One night in the midst of a terrible storm her doorbell rang. She ran to the door. There stood a pathetic young pair. The girl looked tired and frightened. The man seemed to hesitate from embarrassment when he asked for a night's lodging.

Grace made them welcome. She gave them her food, her best room. They were almost piteously grateful.

Morning came. The young couple arose, looking greatly refreshed. The girl had an arresting kind of beauty in her dark face.

"You have made us so comfortable," she told Grace. "I loved the quiet and the sweet clean air that came in through the open window. And the smell of rose leaves in the towels! I just love this place. Aren't these rolls heavenly, Bill?"

Grace's barn had sheltered the car. When it came forth she was a bit astonished by its appearance. She couldn't tell what it was, for she had never seen one like it before.

The guests paid the usual rate and went away. But afterward Grace found an envelope directed to her lying upon the bureau upstairs. In it was her tip, a $50 bill. Suddenly the town buzzed with excitement. The identity of Grace's lodgers was revealed. Joe Brink of the Morning Star had seen the car and had given chase. In the next town, where the travelers stopped for lunch, he got the story. The young couple were internationally famous. They had lost their way in the storm and had wandered until they came to Grace's modest sign illuminated by a sixty-watt bulb.

Didn't you suspect who they were? Mrs. Whipple demanded of Grace.

"I never learned their names. She called him Bill and he called her Tootsey. I was a bit surprised when I saw their car. Otherwise they were just as common as — as I am!"

"Now you've got something to put in your yard," Mrs. Whipple said. "I guess you'll have to build on an addition to accommodate the lodgers you'll have from now on. To think of folks like that being right here on our street! Why, it's a disgrace. Nothing less than a disgrace. These new nightgowns and pajamas for sleeping and lounging take the bolero and trouser or skirt form of the Turkish ladies, more often than not. Sometimes the upper part of the figure is covered with a brassiere-like sheath, instead of a bolero. Then the skirt or trousers hang from wherever the natural waistline of the wearer is supposed to be."

SYNOPSIS

BETH SHANNON, a pretty young stenographer, is in love with her employer.

PHILIP DANE, He is of another world socially, for Beth is poor and must support her invalid mother as well as herself. He is interested, too.

CAROLINE GIBBONS, a society girl who would like to marry him. Together they attend a little theater play in which Beth takes part, the whole affair managed by ARNOLD STONE, an older man who likes Beth. Stone is divorced from his wife, whom he still loves. In the play Beth wears for the first time some beautiful clothes sent her from Paris by an aunt who died there. Also in the audience are Beth's friends, NED and FRANCES HAVENS, and GEORGE METCALF, a young man who lives in the neighborhood and wants to marry Beth. Arnold has suggested to Phil and Caroline that he ask Beth to join them in a party after the performance. Phil agrees eagerly, Caroline because she must.

CHAPTER XVIII
Who Sent the Roses?

THE last act, with Beth a breath-taking picture in the black tulle frock, swept to a triumphant conclusion. Under cover of the applause Caroline whispered to Phil: "Highly moral play for a little Cinderella, isn't it?"

"How do you mean?"

"Well, Ethel, the society girl played by your friend, sends her lover back to the girl he really belongs to, the girl in his own class, doesn't she? Moral—stick to your own kind."

"Nothing easier," he answered easily, patting her into her ermine cape and smiling down at her, "especially when your own kind is as pretty as you are, Caroline."

She smiled back at him. Phil could be irresistible when he chose. He was a good catch, but Caroline was fond of him, too. The soreness that had been gathering in her heart at his open admiration of Beth eased a little and she was able to regard the party Arnold had mentioned as a necessary evil in which she would play a gracious part to perfection.

"Do we go backstage?" she asked now.

"No, we'll wait here. Arnold's gone back to get Miss Shannon."

my winter coat that I wore down here tonight."

Arnold bit his lip in vexation. "Never mind," he said after a moment, "I'll lend you my fur-lined overcoat to get to the car in. My chauffeur's waiting, so you won't need a wrap except going and coming to the car."

"I hate to do that."

"Oh, don't be foolish, Beth—pretend that you left your evening wrap at home if it makes you feel any better."

"But you'll need your coat yourself—no, I won't take it. If you think it's all right I'll just pull my own coat around my shoulders until we get into the car."

"Good girl. Ready in ten minutes?"

Beth promised, and at the end of that time she made her way out to the back of the auditorium where Arnold and Phil and Caroline were waiting for her. She was conscious of the queer picture she made with the cheap winter coat worn over that gorgeous evening dress, but she held her head high for all that. It was Arnold's party, and if Arnold thought it was all right she'd do what he said.

She caught the quick scornful glance Caroline flashed at the outlandish combination, caught also the flicker of sympathy in Philip's eyes. Beth could not know, of course, but inwardly Phil was applauding her pluck in doing what most girls—girls like Caroline, for example, would rather die than do.

"What lovely roses," Caroline exclaimed, for Beth was carrying the flowers in a sheaf on her arm.

"Aren't they?" Beth answered, "and the strange part is that I haven't an idea who sent them. There was no card with them at all."

"Guilty," Philip laughed. "Arnold told me you were going to be in the play but I thought it would fuss you if you knew the boss was in the audience. So I sent 'em anonymously."

"Gorgeous!"

Beth smiled at him, a radiant smile that transformed her, cheap coat and all into a dazzlingly beautiful woman. "Then I'll thank you now for them," she said, and took Arnold's offered arm to go to the waiting limousine. She clung to the shelter of her coat all the way to Arnold's apartment. To lay it aside and reveal herself in her dress, which was just as becoming and probably just as expensive as Caroline's daring one of gold and silver, would have been, she felt, a confession of false pride.

She loved this riding through the street filled with hurrying people. The car was deeply cushioned, luxuriously fitted, and it rested her to sink back in it, silent listening only half-way to the chatter Caroline carried on about plays and concerts, coming-out parties and dances. She did not miss the astonished glance of the liveried doorman at Arnold's apartment as the party, two men in impeccable evening clothes, a girl in an ermine wrap and herself in a cheap cloth coat with rabbit-skin collar and cuffs, swept past him.

She giggled to herself. It was really funny when you came to think of it. She had never seen, except in the moving pictures, a room like the one Arnold took them into. Long, high-ceilinged, with a wood fire crackling and dancing in the fireplace at one end, lined with shelves of books, furnished with deep comfortable chairs, filled with flowers. After one gasp at its beauty and comfort, she followed Arnold into the bedroom he indicated, where she and Caroline were to lay aside their wraps. There she found a bed with a white coverlet and a white pillow. She slipped off her shoes and lay down. A piece of rubber tubing slipped over the bed's faucet, preventing the china dishes being nicked when washed.

CHICAGO—(INS)—Alice White, petite film star, and Sy Bartlett of Film Corp., claim the record for long-time engagement among Hollywood couples. Yes, they admitted Alice and Sy were still engaged and have been for three years. If our engagement lasts that long, our marriage ought to last at least thirty.

HOLLYWOOD—(INS)—John McCormick, film producer, just couldn't forget Colleen Moore, even after he was divorced from her and married to Mrs. Janet Greer. Mrs. Greer, who left her today for Reno to secure a divorce from her husband of two months' duration, said she had a "Colleen Moore Complex." The moral charge will be mental cruelty.

OUR READERS' COOKING

Help the other readers of the Midwest Free Press to cook. Send in the recipes you like best, sign your name, and address, they will be gladly published.

BREAKFAST: Peaches, Dry Cereal with Cream, Baked Sausages, Apple Rings, Hot Corn Cake, Coffee.

LUNCHEON: Cucumber and Deviled Egg Salad, Bread and Butter Sandwiches, Tapioca Cream, Wafers, Tea.

DINNER: Cream of Onion Soup, Baked Stuffed Shoulder, Pan Browned Potatoes Creamed, Cabbage, Tomato Salad, Mayonnaise Dressing, Blackberry Pudding, Lemon Sauce, Coffee.

Baked Sausages: Did you find a satisfactory way to cook sausages? Have you ever tried baking in the oven instead of cooking on top of the stove? Of course they should be washed and pricked with a fork first, as you do the other way, which will help to prevent them from bursting open.

Tapioca Cream: Soak over night 1 cup pearl tapioca. In morning put in double boiler 1 quart milk, squeeze water out of tapioca; add to milk 1 cup sugar and pinch salt. Beat 2 eggs, mix all together and put on to boil. When thick as cream take off and add teaspoon lemon. Let cool a while put in glass dish, cover top with meringue made of white of egg beaten stiff with very little sugar.

Stabilizing Consumption

The plan for unemployment relief and consumer credit devised by Eugene W. Lewis, Detroit Morris plan banker, is attracting considerable attention throughout the country. While there is much about the plan that smacks unpleasantly of the European dole system, the scheme outlined by the Michigan financier has a great deal of merit.

At least, the Lewis plan is something concrete, is a carefully thought out proposition and should have serious consideration this coming winter when Senator James Couzens, of Michigan, places it before congress.

The purpose of the Lewis plan is to level the peaks and fill up the valleys of industrial activity in such a way as to prevent radical fluctuations in employment. It also provides a means for workers to obtain credit in normal periods when payments under the plan are not necessary.

The plan comprehends the establishment of a fund amounting to one and three-quarters percent of the industrial payroll of the several states. Contributions to this fund would be from four sources, 30 percent from the national government, 30 percent from the state government, 25 percent from employers and 15 percent from employees.

This fund would only be used in the emergency, created by a falling off of employment to a point where it was less than 85 percent of the average during the two previous years. Such a decrease in employment would automatically create a legal emergency which would make the fund available.

A worker's personal earning capacity would be the basis of payments from the fund. He would be entitled to receive 70 percent of his previous earnings and payments would continue for a period of six months, unless he was re-employed before that period expired.

When employment had returned to above 90 percent of the previous three year average, payments of benefits would cease, as such a percentage of employment would enable the industrial worker to find a job if he really desired to work.

Contributions from the workers toward this fund would be deducted from their weekly pay checks. The amount received from the state would be derived from general taxation and the national government's bit would be taken from the higher brackets of income tax.

These contributions, however, would not be constant as it would be obviously ridiculous to pile up unneeded funds. The plan, therefore, comprehends an elasticity in collection from the various contributing sources. When the total funds on hand reached a sum equal to about 35 percent of the highest payrolls during the preceding ten year period, collections would be discontinued until additional funds were necessary because of money being deducted for distribution.

There are several outstanding features of the Lewis plan which must recommend themselves to students of economy. Perhaps the greatest fault with the dole system, as practiced abroad, is the fact that only enough money is distributed to the workers to give them a barely subsistence.

It will be noted that the Lewis plan provides for payments amounting to 70 percent of the workers' average earnings. This would mean that the workers could remain in the market as buyers, even though they were not employed. This would make impossible the vicious circle which now results from unemployment. Today unemployment takes workers out of the market, thus creating more unemployment because of lessening demand for products.

The Lewis plan works to prevent curtailment of consumer buying as well as to prevent individual suffering. The dole system in England and continental Europe has only provided a bare living for those unfortunate enough to be the beneficiaries of dole payments.

Under the plan originated by Mr. Lewis, the administration of the funds would be in the hands of national and state commissions and a national bank and state banks would be organized to handle the money.

During times of normal or nearly normal employment, the funds contributed under the plan would be made available for workers' loans. Here again carefully considered rules are established in order to prevent the ultimate waste of the funds through useless loans.

Loans would only be made for the purchase of articles which are necessary and for which there is sound economic authority for ownership. Articles which quickly depreciate or are easily destroyed, and probably would not outlast the period of the loan, could not be used as a basis of credit. The basis of credit would be predetermined and would be standard.

Such restrictions on the use of the fund for loans would be for the workers' good as well as the safety of the plan. It would prohibit orgies of credit buying such as the country has witnessed during the past six or seven years. The funds would not be available except for the purchase of merchandise really needed by the worker and the worker's previous standard of living would be considered in determining the necessity.

Mr. Lewis is quoted as saying that the present banking system does not serve more than 25 percent of the people and is not designed to finance anyone but the producer. The chief function of the worker, Mr. Lewis might have added, is to supply the funds for the banks to loan to the rich. Workers are not noticeably large borrowers at banks.

"Industry has educated our people to mass production," Mr. Lewis says. "Mass consumption must necessarily follow. Our population and our industries are growing rapidly and we should consume at least 80 percent of all we produce. Stabilized consuming power becomes essential."

An economic system which periodically results in peak prosperity and deepest depression must be wrong. This seems to require no proof. As we have repeatedly said, there is enough food, there are enough manufactured products, so that all might live in comparative comfort.

It is not the distribution system that is wrong, it is the fact that buying power is not properly distributed nor universally maintained. As Mr. Lewis so tritely puts it, "Stabilized consuming power becomes essential." When we stabilize the buying power of the mighty army of workers and farmers, there will be no more depressions and "prosperity" should be the normal condition instead of the exception.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Keyes, of Hollis, Okla., have quadruplets 17 years old. What a happy occasion Easter must be for that father! (No, Otto, we positively must refrain from saying anything about a bunch of keys.)

Our Platform for the People is:

1. Less taxation.
2. Fewer State Commissions.
3. Universal school books.
4. Lower freight rates.
5. Return of river transportation.
6. A cleanup of some state institutions.
7. More efficiency in public offices.

Medical Fallacies

TRUE MEANING OF "QUACK"

Because of the recent widespread and indiscriminate use of the term "quack" and analysis of its true meaning by an M. D. is given in this article. Dr. William Howard Hay of Buffalo whose opinion on this subject is given, believes that the first duty of a physician is to his patient. Due to his own experience based on years of practice, he is bitterly opposed to vaccine and serum therapy as well as other orthodox methods and has the courage to state his true convictions concerning such treatment and explains the fallacies on which they are based as well as the uselessness and dangers incident to such orthodox methods.

According to Dr. Hay "Medically speaking a 'quack' is everyone but us the regular school of medicine. No one who is not a graduate of a modern medical school is free from odium of quackery from the regular, classical, orthodox standpoint. Isn't this true?"

"Let us put the definition of 'quack' a little more broadly, not limiting it to outlaws only. From the broader viewpoint a quack is any one who pretends to be something which he is not, one who is not able to do what he claims to do, especially if he takes money for this pretense."

From this broader view how many of us are there who can escape the suspicion of quackery? "If we should tell the absolute truth as we see it how often would we be compelled to say to a patient: 'I do not know what is the matter with you, and not knowing this, I am in no position to treat you intelligently?'"

"If we were honest, how many patients would we have? They would leave us for the quack, and we would be left holding the bag as it were. We know this, and all unconsciously we are compelled to assume an air of wisdom and well informed physician, he would get nearly as many different diagnoses, the same number of different progressions, and still more different plans of treatment."

"We know this, I say, and we unconsciously project ourselves by assuming the patient positively that we understand his condition very well in order to make sure of this unshakable confidence in our enlightened judgment. Are we quacks for this deception? How can we escape the imputation? Who is to blame for this position in which we find ourselves? Is it our fault, or that of human nature as expressed in the patient? No doubt both, for while we are to make sure of this unshakable confidence in our enlightened judgment, we also know very much, yet so also is the public to blame for being so easily led to think that the mysterious thing we call disease can be reduced to exact formulae."

"The fathers of medicine made what they were pleased to call discoveries which were generally discovered certain symptoms if taken into the interior of the human, and with these discoveries they proposed to combat the symptoms of disease. This was just a theory and always will be just a theory, for the internal processes of the body in health or disease, are not and never will be, fully understood, the vital processes not being subject to exact analysis. The sooner we drop the pretense of exact knowledge, the better it will be for our prestige."

"Fifty a third of the population of the U. S. has ceased to depend on regular physicians for having treatment of their various diseases, perhaps because they are beginning dimly to realize through many disappointments the fallibility of classical medicine. Who can tell?"

"The germ theory of disease cannot be substantiated. We have no real proof of the boasted effectiveness of any form of antitoxin or vaccine or serum. Still, we are continually urging on legislatures of state and nation bills to give us more power, more right to compel the unwilling obedience of a long suffering public to our every whim and wish all in the interest of public health."

"In the eyes of those who are willing to forget the present prestige of medicine such as it is, with all its dignity, its scientific jargon, its platitudes of altruism, its great endowments, its well heralded achievements, we are most assuredly quacks, professing to do things we cannot do, and yes, taking money under this pretense."

"We may excuse ourselves by accusing others, and believing that no one can do better than we, but we are clearly in the wrong when we attempt to secure favorable legislation for selfish ends, or try to strangle legislation that may prove undesirable to us in our position as authors in all matters of disease."

"When we attempt to compel by legislation the devotion of an unwilling public, we are exceeding the bounds of fairness to say the least. We have a perfect right to say who shall not enjoy its patronage, and for this reason, as well as those stated before, the writer is wholly out of sympathy with all efforts to coerce a willing and generous people in the matter of medical care, even as in the matter of religious belief."

"Suppose we do succeed in so militating with the country that we have the right to go into any private home and tell them what's what. Can we do better than the medical section of the society? We have been seeking legislation to compel every child in school to be 'Schick'd' then if reaction occurs we want the power to immunize such suspicious children. We pray for the power of the Kaiser multiplied seven times, and we almost have that power now."

"While we ask laws to enforce vaccination and serumization on the public, still, we have no proof of the effectiveness of any form of antitoxin or vaccine or serum. If we are to make sure of this unshakable confidence in our enlightened judgment, we also know very much, yet so also is the public to blame for being so easily led to think that the mysterious thing we call disease can be reduced to exact formulae."

"The fathers of medicine made what they were pleased to call discoveries which were generally discovered certain symptoms if taken into the interior of the human, and with these discoveries they proposed to combat the symptoms of disease. This was just a theory and always will be just a theory, for the internal processes of the body in health or disease, are not and never will be, fully understood, the vital processes not being subject to exact analysis. PLUNGER THE FISH HAWK CATCHES A PRIZE

By Thornton W. Burgess

Billy Mink and Little Joe Otter do most of their fishing in the Laughing Brook or the Smiling Pool and are content with rather small fish, so long as there are plenty of them. Buster Bear is another fisherman who does all his fishing in the Laughing Brook. This is because Buster does not want to leave the Green Forest. His cousin, Bobby Coon, is also quite content with what he can catch in the Laughing Brook. Longlegs the Heron often fishes along the edge of the Big River, but he, too, is content with minnows and pollywogs.

But it is not with Plunger the Fish Hawk. No, indeed. He wastes no time on the little fish of the Laughing Brook or the Smiling Pool. Once in a while he fishes in the Smiling Pool when his keen eyes discover a fish there which is worth catching, but most of his fishing is done in the Big River. Every day he and Mrs. Plunger fly over to the Big River. One goes up the Big River and one goes down the Big River. They are always looking for a big fish. They are always looking for a big fish. They are always looking for a big fish.

Now, it is a fact which perhaps you do not know that from high in the air, looking straight down into the water you can see much more than you can when close to the water. So the keen eyes of Plunger can look right down into the Big River and see the fish swimming there. When he sees one near enough to the top he closes his wings and drops like a shot, with his great talons spread wide, to seize the fish. But he is not always successful. Oh, my, no! Did you ever know a fisherman who always succeeds? I never did. Plunger is just like all fisherman, missing his fish quite as often, and perhaps often than he catches one. And he is like all good fisherman in another thing, the possession of patience.

On this particular morning Plunger was having no luck at all. Perhaps it was because he wasn't as patient as usual. The truth is he was a rather impatient fellow. He was fishing his fish quite as often, and perhaps often than he catches one. And he is like all good fisherman in another thing, the possession of patience.

But it seemed as if all the particularly nice fish were staying at the bottom of the Big River that morning. Plunger was sitting on them to keep them warm, so that by and by they would hatch into three little Plungers. So Plunger wanted a particularly nice fish to take to her to show her how much he thought of her.

"Predicts Dire Things" PITTSBURGH (INS).—New York skyscrapers will swing out of plumb in an epic cyclone scheduled to strike Manhattan Island next August 16, according to Paul K. Schimmick, local astrologer, who credits himself with prognosticating accurately all elemental disasters within the past decade. In addition to this bit of bad news, Schimmick forecasts a dry spell, nationwide in area, continuing to August 12 and again during the greater portion of September. All this will happen, he explains, because Mars will be in the north Virgo until August, when it moves into the Libra.

He was just about ready to think that he and Mrs. Plunger would have no breakfast that day when he saw deep down in the water the biggest, fattest fish he had yet seen. It was lazily swimming or, at times, remaining quite still.

"That fellow will bear watching," muttered Plunger. "He hasn't anything in particular to do, and perhaps he will come up for a sun bath. My, but he would taste good! I think I'll wait a bit."

So Plunger waited and watched. His way of waiting was to swing in little circles round and round right over the spot where the fish was, only, of course, he was high in the air. Round and round and round and round swung Plunger, never once taking his eyes from that fish down below. Several times he was tempted to give up and try his luck elsewhere, but he didn't. Finally patience won, as patience almost always will. Slowly the big fish came nearer and nearer to the surface. At last he was only a few inches below. Plunger steadied himself for an instant to make sure that his aim was good. Then he closed his wings and shot down like an arrow.

Dear Mr. Baker:

I sure do miss K-TNT. I can hardly find words to tell you about it. I wrote letters to the federal radio commission but it did not come. They just do as they want to, law or no law.

If you get to Mexico to build a station make it so strong and powerful as to just drown out all the chain stations. I think that the people ought to help you build it just like you did with the Midwest Free Press. I can't help much but will help a little and if each one does it, it soon counts up.

I just hope the people of Iowa select you the next governor and I think they will. I did not hear your last address over the radio but am living in hope of hearing America's best radio announcer speak again. I don't care if you would talk for a day steady I could sit and listen. One night I sat up 'till after two o'clock and listened to you, about two years ago. Your column in the Free Press is just wonderful. That's the first thing I read. I think you are one of the people's best friends. The best of luck to you and don't let the medals get you.

Herman, Minn.

Dear Mr. Baker:

I just can't refrain from writing you a few lines to tell you how very sorry we are that your station is

While bananas are a light, starchy food, many people will have trouble digesting them, especially if they have any catarrhal symptoms. The digestion of the cereal foods may be aided if one will cook them in a covered jar with some kind of vegetable or fruit juice, such as water, or water thinned with lemon juice. Rice, cornmeal, conchard pudding, tapioca, all may be cooked this way or these juices are somewhat sweet, and have not much acid in them.

One part rice to two parts juice, with some raisins added, may be placed in a covered sauce pan in a moderately heated oven. Cook until the outer coat is soft. When served, any other kind of juice may be added to suit the taste. Honey may be added when served if one desires some sweet element. At a solvent juice may be added for it is needed when eating starchy foods. This can be judged by the way you feel—dull, heavy, or bright and nourished.

President Hoover

Herbert Hoover's real name is Gus. He was known by that name in his boyhood and decided to make it Herbert only after a conference with the late Boies Penrose in 1920. Boies favored the name of Laura, but Herbert was finally adopted as a compromise. Up to the campaign of that year he was an I. W. W. In fact, he was at one time thought of running for the Presidency on the I. W. W. ticket with Emma Goldman as Vice-President. The story that he was food relief commissioner in the world war is so much political trash. Hoover was in China throughout the period of the world war working on a plan to make silk worms work nights. The food commissioner was a fellow with button shoes. His nomination for the Presidency at Kansas City was due to confusion. The lights went out during a night session and before the electrician could get the fuses fixed Hoover had been named. It was one of the meanest tricks ever played on any man.

From that day to this he has been very hard to approach, and he can't blame him much. No man can stay three years in the rough and still be affable. Mr. Hoover's hobbies are fishing and trying to recall who first suggested to him that he succeed Calvin Coolidge. He is a Buddhist. His favorite sport is riding a high wheeled bicycle backwards.

SMART MEN WAGERING 10 TO 1 A'S WIN A. L. FLAG

MACKMEN ALSO 2-1 FAVORITE TO WIN SERIES

Connie Mack May Be Forced to Wreck His Club Again

BY COPELAND C. BURG
INS Sports Writer

NEW YORK (INS)—Smart men, who make betting their profession, will wager 10 to 1 that the Philadelphia A's will win the American league pennant and if you give these same gentlemen the slightest encouragement they will wager 20 to 1 that the world is round.

Also you can get odds of 2 to 1 that the A's beat the St. Louis Cardinals in the world series and you can pick any other team you think might win the National league pennant and get the same odds that the Philadelphia's win the world's title.

As a matter of fact the professional betters are not the only folks who have decided the Athletics are good. The other American league magnates have reached the conclusion they are too good and it's no secret the lack of a real race in the junior circuit this season has cost the club owners thousands of dollars in wagers.

Wrecked Club Before
Way back in 1910, 1911, 1913 and 1914 Connie Mack won pennants and then suddenly sent his great team to the ash dump. They said he broke it up for financial reasons, selling his stars right and left. A few said so much pressure was brought to bear on Mack by other magnates he was forced to wreck his club.

Anyway, history may repeat itself and the Mackmen may be junked like a horse and buggy. What club will get Grove and Simmons? and how about Cochran? what a nice Christmas present this boy Cochran would be for Charlie Comiskey.

Cochran was busy yesterday as the A's ended their home town play against the four western clubs by humbling St. Louis 8 to 5, the victory giving the Mackmen a record of 17 victories in 18 games with the westerners in Philadelphia-played titles. The one loss went to Detroit. The A's now have won 49 games from the Detroit, Cleveland, St. Louis and Chicago.

Cochran Hitting Star
Two homers and two singles was what Cochran got against the Browns, who succumbed for Waite Hoyt's fifth winning effort since joining Mack.

The Athletics start their final western invasion on August 10. Oh, Hum! Jimmy Collins of the Cardinals stole a homer with two on and three other bluffs as Lord Burleigh of Grimes, the haughty one, notched his thirteenth win. No other than the Cubs were the victims and the score 10 to 3.

Fischer passed the time of day with the Cleveland Indians, allowing them only five hits and annexing another for Washington, 6 to 1. The sad New York Giants put up some very thin entertainment as they flopped 2 to 0 before the Pittsburgh Pirates. French humiliated the Giant hitters by limiting them to four safeties. Melvin Ott, fielding star of New York, hurt his shoulder diving after a ball and may be out of the game for weeks.

All other teams were idle. Scores by innings:

Tennis Players Go In Quarter-Finals In Valley Tourney
IOWA CITY, Ia.—(INS)—Tennis players today go into the quarter-finals of the first annual Mississippi Valley net tourney being held at the University of Iowa this week, with the seeded players holding the center of attraction.

Stars yesterday were in the lime-light as the play in men's singles advanced through the third round matches. Merle Robbins, Ames, former state champion, attracted the most attention of the day, when he bested two singles opponents and came through in two doubles matches successfully.

George Struble, Toledo, and Walter Theiss, Cedar Rapids, scored an upset yesterday when they walloped the No. 1 doubles team, Gelwick and Riel, in straight sets.

MAT RESULTS
By International News Service
At Boston—Henry De Giane, French-Canadian claimant of world's title, defeated Gus Sonnenberg, Boston.

At New York—Jim London, Greece, defeated Al Pierotto, Boston.
Hans Steinke, Chicago and Earl McCready, of Oklahoma, former national amateur champion, drew.
Herbie Freeman, New York, pinned Taro Miyki, Japan.

RING VERDICTS
At Chicago, Laurie Peppin, Winnipeg middleweight, won decision from Ray Trumble, 10.
At Detroit: Earl Mastro, Chicago featherweight, won decision over Vidal Gregorio, Spain, 10.

POTOSI-LETTS TEAMS IN TIE

Rubber Game Stopped By Darkness With Score 4 All

LETTIS, Ia.—(Special)—Out to play off the series, each team having defeated the other earlier this season, the Potosi Brewers of Muscatine and the Lettis kittenball team played seven innings to a tie here Thursday night, 4 to 4.

Lettis tied the score in the last half of the seventh inning by scoring two runs. The game was called at the end of the seventh because of darkness. Hildebrand, local third baseman, and Chenoweth, Potosi shortstop, led in hitting with three hits apiece in four trips to the plate. The two teams will meet again on Tuesday evening at the South end park in Muscatine. Box score:

Sharkey to Fight Carnera at Ebbets Field on Sept. 23

NEW YORK (INS)—Abandoning a match between Tommy Loughran and Jack Sharkey in August, James J. Johnston has announced a definite date for a 15-round match between Sharkey and Primo Carnera, the giant Italian.

The Boston heavyweight and the 270-pound venetian will meet at Ebbets field on September 23, Johnston said. In the event the Madison Square Garden corporation blocks Carnera again, as it did in June, Loughran will substitute.

Fruitland Players Defeat Schmarje's
Fruitland's kittenball team won another contest Thursday evening, this time defeating the Schmarje button factory team of Muscatine, 14 to 6. The game was a seven inning affair with Fruitland taking an early lead and gradually increasing it.

Sunday afternoon the Fruitland team will play a doubleheader, the first game with Ardon and the second with the Bazely meat market team of Muscatine. The first contest is scheduled to get under way at 2 p. m.

BOSS SAYS MAX WILL BE CHAMP FOR LONG TIME

Jacobs Says Sharkey Out of Picture on Walker Fight

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN (INS Sports Writer)

NEW YORK—Herr Max Schmeling will return his title of heavyweight champion of the world "for five or six years—possibly ten," his manager, Mr. Joe Jacobs, predicted in an interview today as he made preparations for a trip abroad to talk matters over with "the champ," Jacobs said for Germany next Tuesday.

"Schmeling will not box before next June," Jacobs told International News Service. "I am committed to the idea of a once-a-year battle for his champion." Jacobs said that is often enough to defend the title.

"Sharkey, because of his failure to do better than draw with Mickey Walker, is out of the picture," Jacobs said. "As far as we are concerned he is on the sidelines, a discredited heavyweight."

Must Beat Walker
"Suppose Sharkey knocks out Primo Carnera in September? Jacobs was asked.

"That simply would make Walker look all the better," replied Schmeling's manager. "No matter what Sharkey does in the way of winning fights late this summer and fall he will have to get rid of Mickey Walker before he has any standing with me," declared Jacobs.

Jacobs said Schmeling would be willing to meet Walker in Chicago, as suggested, but the fight would have to be for fifteen rounds. All of Schmeling's future bouts will have to be fifteen rounds or longer, according to Jacobs, who says Max is a slow starter who improves steadily as a fight progresses.

Retalio in Picture
"It's impossible to say at this time who will be Schmeling's next opponent," Jacobs explained. "There are a few young fellows coming up that may be in the heavyweight picture before long. I mean fellows like that Charley Retalio of Duluth and Steve Adams, the former Penn state athlete."

Jacobs has a number of things to talk over with Schmeling when they meet in Germany. He wants a look at Max's injured eye—the optic that was hurt in the fracas with Young Stribling in Cleveland.

A number of motion picture concerns want to feature Schmeling in "talkies," according to Jacobs. Jacobs said Max is "a great attraction now—everybody knows he is a real champion and they want to see him."

"Schmeling will make another exhibition tour of the United States," Jacobs disclosed. "We made a net profit of between $71,000 and $72,000 on our last tour which lasted five weeks and we should do a great deal better next time in view of Max's increased popularity."

Pennant, Y. M. C. A. And Kautz Outfits Win in Kittenball
Kautz doughboys defeated the First Baptist team in an American league game played on the new diamond at Weed park, 5 to 3, the Iowa Pearl outfit dropped a free hitting game to the Pennant players in a Factory league contest played on the old diamond at Weed park, 14 to 9, while the Y. M. C. A. players received a forfeit from the Mulford team in kittenball games played Thursday evening.

The victory for the doughboys gives them a chance to overtake the league leaders, the Elks, in the two games remaining on the schedule. In games tonight the Elks American league team will play the Lions on the new diamond at Weed park, while the Factory league leaders, the Heinz team, will meet the Automatic outfit on the old diamond at Weed park.

Sports Scribe Gives Lowdown On 16 Major League Managers

With 50 Games to Go Both Pennant Races Virtually Over

By BILL CORUM

NEW YORK—Sixteen major league managers started a new pennant race in April with high hopes. Not all of them expected to win a championship, but not one thought his team would finish in the cellar.

While the schedule has approximately 50 games more to run, the race for first place in both leagues is virtually over. As the players themselves would put it, the A's and the Cards are in.

There may, and probably will, be some slight shifting among the second, third and fourth place outfits before the red board goes up. But it won't matter greatly from the standpoint of the success and failure of the manager. Let us, then, examine the season and see how the sixteen gentlemen have fared.

Joe McCarthy: The gentleman from Chicago has done a first-rate job with Colonel Jake Ruppert's Yankees. He didn't win the pennant. But, moving over into a strange league and handicapped from the outset by illness and injuries, he has kept a club that was sagging at the joints when he took it over plugging along. He will be back next season with a better team. This first season in the A. L. has cost him no prestige.

William Killefer: His Browns have been the sensation of a dead year. Has come along with a lot of corking youngsters, including young Herbert, a southpaw pitcher. Owned P. D. C. Ball is smiling for the first time in five years. Watch out for these kids in a season or so!

John Collins: Well, the Red Sox are not last. Keeno, shano.

Jewel Ems: Scarcely a "Jewel" in the managerial diadem. But the current spurt of the Pirates may have stayed the sudden "emo" which threatened him a few weeks back.

John J. McGraw: A fixture even though his Giants have been a bitter disappointment to the old guard. To meet it looks as though they have done as well as anybody could reasonably have hoped from the outset. You just don't win pennants with Mitchells, Morrells, Berlys, Chaplins, and such doing the pitching. Verger has been a find. Lindstrom has vindicated Mac's belief that he could become a great outfielder. But this team can stand a couple of important trades and a thorough shaking up, especially in the battery departments.

Connie Mack: The A's of the A's. This kid is going to prove a big success as a manager one of these days.

Gabby Street: Even with the St. Louis Cardinals where you can't win, since, right off the records, a man gets tired just as quickly for winning a pennant as for losing it, the old sergeant seems to have found a happy home. It takes a real good club to make all its own pace and win in a league as well balanced as the N. L. and the Cards are just that—a real ball club.

Bill McKeechnie: Bill's a builder—one of the most successful builders among the managers. The improvement of the Braves under his leadership has been steady, sure and pronounced. He will come up with a pennant winner there soon as sure as you're alive.

Rogers Hornsby: In the face of a lot of uncalled for propaganda, the RAJ has kept Mr. Wrigley's Cubs right up around there. Is a smart and winning manager and before he leaves Chicago, which won't be next year, he will have proved it to the satisfaction of all. Comparing the job he has turned out with the Cubs and that of McCarthy's with the Yanks, it seems to me there is little to choose between them.

Burt Shotton: What could a man do with the Phillies that he hasn't done, except maybe imitate four Hawaiians? Has picked up two good new players, who likely will be with some other team in '32.

Roger Peckinpah: I'm afraid not. Seems somehow to be gaited for a spot around the

SUN BEAU HAS CHANCE TO BE TOTAL WINNER

Gallant Fox's Mark May Be Passed by Thoroughbred

ARLINGTON PARK, Ill.—(INS)

Sun Beau, the horse without a temperament, goes after gallant Fox's winning total of $328,744 in the $25,000 added Arlington handicap tomorrow over a mile and quarter.

Sun Beau, under eight trainers in four years of racing has won $328,744 most of it in relatively small purses. A dismal failure in a $100,000 race at Agua Caliente last winter was all that prevented him from becoming the high money winner of all time several months ago.

So outstanding is Sun Beau's record this year that they have made a pack horse out of him, saddling the thoroughbred with 128 pounds. Others entered in one of the two closing features of Arlington Park's rich meeting are Mike Hall, Gallant Knight, Brown Wisdom, Sun Meadow, Silverdale, The Nut, Flucky Play, Calf Roper, and Spinach.

JEAN WIGGINS NAMED COUNTY HEALTH CHAMP

Wapsie Four-H Girl Will Be Sent to State Fair

Miss Jean Wiggins, member of the Wapsie Four-H club was awarded the honor of representing Muscatine county as the champion Four-H health girl at the state fair in Des Moines, when the annual health contest of club groups was held, Thursday at the home of Mrs. A. J. Altkruse, Parkington drive.

She was adjudged by a group of four doctors as the most eligible and outstanding club girl from among a group of nine contestants representing as many clubs in the county. She was chosen as champion health girl, not because of the fact that she scored highest in her own club, but for the reason that she made the best showing of the various girls entered in the competition. Her score was 99.65.

Representatives of three other clubs were in close competition with Miss Wiggins, all having scores above 99 per cent. The others and their scores were: Helen Hettler, New Era Favorites club, 99.4; Alberta Stafford, Wapsie Ever Ready club, 99.3; Orthia Neff, Pike Lassies club, 99.1.

Local Group Outstanding

Mrs. Carl Rylander, home demonstration agent for the Farm Bureau, who assisted in conducting the annual health contest, explained that the purpose of the contest was not so much in the selection of the healthiest girl as the county representative, but to set up an out-standing health type as a standard for other girls to follow.

This year, the leaders in Four-H club work are also conducting a health improvement contest which enables the members to improve any defects from year to year. Dr. Royal of West Liberty, one of the examining physicians and who has attended a number of the state fair health examinations, stated that the local group entered in the final elimination contest, was the most outstanding of any he had ever seen.

Other County Winners

Club girls of Muscatine county have placed among the leaders in scores in the state fair competition. Miss Lucy Anderson of near West Liberty, received the state honors one year. Miss Edith Fenstermaker of the Wapsie Ever Ready club has held the county title for one year, making an almost perfect score in the 1930 contest.

Miss Wiggins, the physicians found, lacked but a few points in making a perfect score, and as the county contest is held earlier this year to permit the winner to improve her health before entering in the state competition, it is expected that the state title will have been won by that time.

The winner of the state contest will be sent to represent Iowa in the International Congress to be held later in Chicago.

STRIKE VIOLENCE FLARES UP ANEW

PITTSBURGH — (INS) — Violence and rioting in the soft coal field dormant since a spectacular demonstration at Canonsburg two weeks ago, broke out again today when deputy sheriffs guarding the Harmsville mine of the Consumers Coal company engaged in a hot scuffle with striking miners at Cheswick.

To the accompaniment of pistol shots and the impact of swinging clubs, the deputies hurled tear gas bombs at the miners, enroute in two trucks to picket the Harmsville mines.

Witnesses told police the trouble finally was quieted by the arrival of three members of the state police who persuaded the deputy sheriffs to desist.

Predict Latest Heat Wave Will End on Saturday

That showers and cooler weather will mark the end of the summer's second terrific heat wave in Iowa was the forecast sent out from the government weather bureau at Des Moines today. The bureau predicts unsettled and continued warm weather for tonight, with probable showers and cooler on Saturday.

At 7 a. m., today, the mercury registered 80 degrees, four higher than on Thursday. Slight relief from extremely high temperatures throughout Thursday, came in the form of cool breezes late in the evening. Skies were overcast here today, with the wind from the east. Burlington and Keokuk today reported that the mercury rose to 104 Thursday afternoon. Boone, Clarinda, Iowa Falls and Albia reported temperatures of 102. Iowa City, Davenport, Cedar Rapids, Atlantic, Marshalltown and Alta reported 102. Carroll, Fort Dodge and Waterloo reported 101, and Creston, Lamoni and Okmaha reported 100.

The lowest minimum reported in the state was 94 at Dubuque. The mercury dropped to 65 at Boone Thursday night. Only a slight trace, 0.02 inches, of precipitation was reported in the state at Iowa City.

The Medical Trust Exposed

BY NORMAN BAKER

This is the sixth installment of a serial article which will appear daily in the Midwest Free Press

This method of "treatment" is inculcated even in the schools and colleges controlled by the medical trust. From its institutions of "learning," the medical trust turns out machine-made doctors by a process of mass-production. It does so because such machine-made doctors fit into the system perfectly and into the money-making purpose of the organized medicals.

In this system of education everything is cut-and-dried and originality is discouraged. MEDICAL PROGRESS, DISCOVERIES AND ORIGINALITY ARE REVOLUTIONARY AND A MENACE TO THE CUT-AND-DRIED PROCESSES OF EXTRACTING PROFITS.

It was ever thus with a monopoly. A monopoly, whether it be a money, commodity or medical monopoly, seeks an ESTABLISHED system best suited to extort profits and then declares war on anyone who would disturb this system.

Dr. David L. Edsall in an address before the annual congress on Medical Education and Medical Licensure, spoke plainly to the American Medical Association about machine-made students. He said:

"Almost all subjects must be taken at exactly the same time and in almost exactly the same way by all the students, and the amount introduced into each course is such that few students have time or energy to explore any subject in a spirit of independent interest.

"A little comparison shows that there is less intellectual freedom in the medical course than in almost any other form of professional education in this country."

So much for machine-made doctors. Dr. Edsall continues: "I was for a period a professor of therapeutics and pharmacology, and I know from experience that students were obliged then by me and by others to learn about the interminable number of drugs, many of which were useless, some probably even harmful, some others relatively valueless, because they were still discussed in some textbooks, which had never been officially discarded and were sometimes asked about by the State Boards of Medical Examiners."

These are the words of an authority upon this subject, not only about machine-made doctors, but about the control that the medical examining board has upon the curriculum. And these boards of examiners, as will be shown, are in most instances, the American Medical Association.

As a part and parcel of the machine methods of medical trust education is the teachings in the use of drugs.

Cushny in the preface to the "Text Book of Pharmacology and Therapeutics" speaks plainly about the host of "useless drugs and medicines taught in the medical schools. He says: "For as long as he (the medical student) has to learn the supposed virtues of a host of obscure substances, he will tend to use them in practice. This in turn necessitates their inclusion in the pharmacopeia, which again perpetuates them as subjects of teaching."

With these few instances, we see that the state of medicine is somewhat uncertain at its best; that the medical practitioner is turned out by the colleges to repeat formulas like a parrot; that he goes through life prescribing drugs that are useless or harmful. Seldom is he given opportunity to investigate for himself and use his own sense about the values of medicines.

This is the state of affairs we find existing in the United States today; and into the hands of such machine-made practitioners, making pretensions to knowledge that their more honest professors say they could not have, the health and lives of the people of the United States have been placed. How then, with their admitted ignorance, does the machine-made medical practitioner escape the penalty of malpractice which is bound to result from his ignorance? How have the thousands of doctors "got away with it?"

The answer is—the organized doctors' ETHICAL CODE built and fostered by the medical trust.

This amazing code may be found, by any one who will take the trouble to investigate, in that portions of the documents owned and carefully guarded by the medical trust known as "The Principles of Ethics of the American Medical Association." These official "principles of ethics" among other things say:

"All discussions in consultations should be held as confidential. Neither by word nor manner should any of the participants in a consultation intimate that any part of the treatment pursued did not receive his assent."

Reduced to plain United States this astounding statement means that, if a group of physicians participate in a case, and, by virtue of wrong diagnosis prescribe medicine that kills, or by mistake take off a limb and make a permanent cripple of the patient, or kill him by experimentation or puncture his spine and render him permanently insane, they are bound individually and collectively not to tell on each other or give away the case.

WOULD EMPLOY THE DEAF

PHILADELPHIA — (INS) — A suggestion that the ten million deaf persons in this country be delegated to do the noisy work of the nation, is to be made by Dr. Matthew S. Eisner, professor of otology in the School of Medicine, Temple University, to the Pan-American Congress of Medicine, in Mexico City. The meeting closes July 27. Dr. Eisner will represent the Temple alone with Dr. Chevalier Jackson, professor of bronchology, and Dr. Wayne Babcock, professor of clinical surgery.

ENTHUSIASM IS NOW DISPLAYED BY CANDIDATES

Interest Growing by Leaps and Bounds In Campaign

Enthusiasm has grown by leaps and bounds since The Midwest Free Press announced the extra award of $300 in gold in the "Everybody Wins" campaign. Entirely new contestants as well as those who are already entered in the race and have proved by their efforts that they are real workers, are filled with renewed energy, realizing the wonderful possibility that this award offers them.

An entirely new contestant has this special $300 award as those who are already entered. Everyone is on an equal basis for the new prize.

However, contestants should bear in mind that more votes and points are given for subscriptions during the second period. Where a one year new subscription will count 60 points on the special $300 in gold during the second period, up to August 8th, a new yearly subscription will count only 30 points during the third period, and three points during the final period.

Now is the time to launch your greatest efforts if you have any desire to pull down this $300 in the next three weeks. Just think what it means, $100.00 per week to the winner.

Many candidates who have called at the campaign department are expressing new determination to put forth their best efforts during this important period. Reports from candidates in all districts and their friends, filled with the same sort of enthusiasm, makes one believe that the remainder of the race will be very spirited.

"Second Period" Now On

The "second period" is now on and the present vote schedule will be in effect for nine days more. When the schedule is very sharply reduced. The longer you delay in getting in "full swing" the less valuable your subscriptions will be from a vote standpoint. And that is what you are after—VOTES—should be after them if you wish to be one of the big prize winners.

The big awards are to be distributed to those who make the best records in the vote column. "Wishes" won't do well in the campaign—but the vote producers will be rewarded in accordance with the effort put forth.

In just three weeks from next Saturday this interesting competition will come to a close, and the most stupendous prizes ever conceived by a newspaper in this vicinity will be distributed.

Let's work hard while our efforts count most.

KEPT WORD TO JUDGE
LYONS, France (INS) — "I throw you into jail, judge," said Andre Schmidt. "I'll eat my pants." The judge looked at the long baggy trousers of Schmidt and sentenced him to thirty days. Alone in a cell he tore his trousers into two-inch strips and began to eat them. When a jailor intervened he protested. "I would have eaten even the buttons if you had not stopped me."

LESSON FOR AUGUST 2

PHILIP'S MISSIONARY LABORS

LESSON TEXT—Acts 8:5-40.

GOLDEN TEXT—Therefore they that were scattered abroad went everywhere preaching the word.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Philip tells a Stranger About Jesus.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Philip An Early Missionary.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Pioneering for Jesus.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Gospel Breaks Over the Frontier.

I. Philip Preaching in Samaria (vv. 5-8).

In taking the gospel to the Samaritans we see the broadening of the scope of Christianity. Philip was one of the seven so-called deacons. He went to Samaria and preached Christ showing that God's purpose included these despised people. Christ is the true message of the evangelist. Not Christ as an ethical teacher or as an example, but Christ as the Savior from sin through the offering of himself on the cross as a substitutionary ransom.

II. Philip Preaching to the Ethiopian (Acts 8:26-39).

Following the preaching to the Samaritans, the gospel was preached to the Ethiopian who was in all probability a Gentile. In his conversion we see the gospel in its outreach to the ends of the earth.

1. Philip meeting the Ethiopian (vv. 26-30).

a. Leaving work by divine direction (v. 26). The Lord called Philip away from a great work in Samaria and specifically directed him to this man. The Spirit of God directed him to go near and join himself to the chariot. The tactful question put to the treasurer gained him a seat by his side. The mission which at first seemed so unpromising, was now clear.

b. An officer of state seeking the way of salvation (vv. 27, 28). The Ethiopian had been to Jerusalem to worship. Despite his high official position he was not ashamed of the worship of God. The journey from that far-off country required hardship and expense, but to one whose soul yearns after God this is all joy.

c. A providential meeting in the desert (vv. 29, 30). The coming of the Ethiopian to the men was clearly the pre-determined way of God.

2. Philip preaching to the Ethiopian (vv. 30-35).

a. The Ethiopian's employment on the way (v. 30). He was reading the Word of God. The particular portion was the fifty-third chapter of Isaiah. A most excellent way to spend one's time while traveling.

b. The Ethiopian rejoicing (v. 39). Having been baptized, he went on his way rejoicing. Confession of Christ and obedience to his Word always brings joy.

MRS. L. N. RAINBOW CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. Lee N. Rainbow, 53, of 608 1/2 Des Moines street, died Thursday at 5:30 p. m. following a short illness of smallpox. She was first taken ill on Monday.

Miss Bertha Jagow was born in Germany, October 13, 1877, and with her parents came to this country when three years old. For a short time she lived in New York and later in Wisconsin. She came to Muscatine 48 years ago where she was married to Lee Rainbow on May 25, 1898.

Surviving besides the widow are two daughters, Mrs. Joseph Bartholomew of Rock Island and Mrs. M. W. Diercks of Muscatine; one son, Everett Rainbow of Waterloo; two sisters, Mrs. Charles Henderson of Wilton and Mrs. Fred Hoffman of Muscatine; and one brother, Herman Jagow of this city.

Private funeral services will be held Saturday at 2:30 p. m. from the Wittich funeral home with the Rev. John Haeffner of the Zion Lutheran church officiating. Burial will be in the Greenwood cemetery.

Hoskins Arrested For Drunk Driving

Ray Hoskins of Muscatine, arrested Thursday night on charges of driving an automobile while intoxicated, was bound to the grand jury under $500 bonds when arraigned before Justice J. C. Coster this morning. He was unable to furnish bond and was taken to the county jail.

LOCAL SCHOOLS TO BEGIN TERM ON AUGUST 31

Several Changes in the Teaching Staff to Be Made

The fall school term in Muscatine will start on August 31, it was announced today by H. Van Hettling, who at that time will be installed as superintendent of city schools. There will be only a one day vacation for Labor day this year, Mr. Van Hettling said.

A number of changes in the teaching staffs of the high school, the junior college and grade schools will be made this year.

Fred Messelger, who has served as assistant principal at the high school will occupy the position of principal, made vacant by Mr. Van Hettling. Arthur E. Johnson of Ottumwa has been named assistant principal and Howard McElrath, debating and English instructor and assistant athletic coach, Mr. McElrath will take the place of James Tracy, resigned.

New Mathematic Instructor

At the junior college Miss Louise Gaekle, former dean of the Elkader Junior college, will be installed as mathematic instructor to take the place of Henrietta Terry, who resigned last year. The position of chemistry instructor, vacated by Henry Holtzer, will be filled by F. J. Prochaska, according to present indications. Mr. Prochaska has been approved by the teachers committee and his appointment will come before the board of education at its next meeting, August 14.

Three changes will be made in the grade schools. Helen Howe will teach the fifth grade at the Lincoln school, Adele Mark will have charge of the third grade at Garfield school and Agnes Sutherland will instruct departmental geography at Franklin school.

Repairs to various schools are practically completed now. Mr. Van Hettling states. These include the remodeling of the platform in the high school assembly room, installing of a new furnace in the McKinley school, the removal of a wall on the second floor of the Washington school so the two rooms may be used for an assembly room, repairing of fire damage at the Lincoln school and inside painting at both the McKinley and Washington schools.

No announcement has been made as to when the St. Mathias or St. Mary's schools will be opened. The Zion Lutheran parochial school will open the same day as the public schools.

TO DISTRIBUTE WINTER WHEAT

About 300 bushels of Lowin, the new winter wheat variety, is now ready for distribution to Iowa farmers for trial seeding purposes, according to Joe L. Robinson of the Farm Crops Department at Iowa State College. A charge of $1.25 is made for the 1 1/2 bushel lots, bag included. F. O. B. Ames; this amount covers all expenses.

Lowin was distributed last year for the first time, but results are not yet available. From 1926 to 1930, inclusive, this variety has averaged 38 bushels per acre at the college agronomy farm. It has been the highest yielding winter wheat variety, averaging 1 1/4 bushels more than Loturk and 3 1/2 bushels more than Turkey Red.

The seeding of new varieties does two things for the farmer, says Mr. Robinson. It gives him an opportunity to make comparisons with home variety and a supply of seed if the trial proves successful.

Aid Club Members In Preparing for Exhibits at Fair

Carl Rylander, county farm agent and A. J. Altkruse and Ernest Pace, committee leaders in the Muscatine County Baby Beef club, were assisting club members today in preparing their exhibits to be shown at the county fair at West Liberty.

Members of the pig club who will enter exhibits at the fair, were aided Thursday in their preparations.

MUSICAL ART AWAITS GENIUS SAYS DAMROSCH

NEW YORK.—(INS)—Musical art is asleep. But it will not sleep for long. It awaits a messiah, genius, to reawaken fertility in musical composition.

In the meantime we have the masters, Beethoven, Haydn, Mozart and they are quite sufficient. These opinions are expressed by the musical authority Walter Damrosch, dean of American symphony conductors, who has returned here from Hollywood where he conducted programs in the Hollywood bowl.

"I am not a pessimist in viewing the future of music," Damrosch said, "but right now we are going through one of those eras which is not producing of great art."

"We do not have any great composers at the present time. They are to come."

"People do not find modern music satisfactory. It is based upon dissonance, and the ear is not accustomed to it; probably never will be. The older and more beautiful music is based upon diatonic forms, which were used by the masters."

"I sympathize with young composers who are struggling for new forms of expression, but to discover them requires genius. They would do better to confine themselves to the older techniques. Such composers as Beethoven found new forms, but there were giants in those days."

"True art always flows from the emotions. Modern music finds its course in nervous excitement; it does not come from or appeal to the heart."

The noted conductor does not believe machinery and modern social

Where American Aviators Landed in Wales

Sketch map showing the western extremity of Wales, Moylgrove, on a farm near which Hugh Herndon Jr., and Clyde Pangborn landed, and the larger town of Cardigan, from which the news of their safe arrival was sent to New York. The rugged nature of the land is indicated by the map. Later the flyers flew to the Crocyon air field, London.

WILDER IN FACULTY

CHICAGO.—(INS)—Twenty-two appointments and 33 promotions have been announced for the faculty of the University of Chicago, effective this fall. Thornton Wilder, noted author, is to continue as a visiting faculty member in the English department.

HIKES FOR TWO WEEKS

CLEVELAND.—(INS)—Herbert C. Belcher, 37, hiked all the way from Deuthan, Ala., through a blistering hot sun for nearly two weeks to confess a minor theft to Cleveland police and take his punishment.

Dusty, tired and limping, Belcher walked up to the information bureau at Central police headquarters. He related how he had stolen a bicycle 12 years ago and then sold it; how he had been convinced by a missionary that he should confess his sins and so he walked to Cleveland. Belcher and Patrolman Vargo went to Lieutenant James Peck, who decided to hold court at once and settle the case. After numerous questions, Peck said: "We'll forgive you for this theft and let you go, but don't ever do it again and don't ever lose your religion."

The Cubs likely will renew their bidding for Jim Bottomley, Cardinal first baseman soon as the trading ban is off. It is said the Cubs tried up to the last minute the night of June 15.

MOST AUTO WOES DUE TO LACK OF PROPER CAR CARE

WASHINGTON.—(INS)—The American Automobile Association, on the basis of an analysis of emergency calls handled by its more than 1,000 motor clubs throughout the country during 1930 declared indifference of car owners to certain fundamentals of car care, rather than major troubles, is the chief source of cars stalling along the roadside.

The national body said that tire troubles, ignition and battery ills, choked feed lines, improperly adjusted carburetors, and the familiar, "out of gas," accounted for more than fifty percent of the S. O. S. calls from motorists last year.

The purpose of the analysis, said the A. A. A. was to ascertain the principal sources of trouble, with the view to stressing the advantages to be enjoyed by car owners through closer attention to the mechanics of the car usually causing delay and annoyance.

COPIES MUST FIT CARS

HARRISBURG, Pa.—(INS)—Candidates for membership in Pennsylvania's state highway patrol must fit the state-owned motor cycles, officers decided in rejecting the application of one aspirant.

The would-be motor patrolman stood six feet five inches. Superintendent W. C. Price found the candidate couldn't get his knees under the handle-bars of a motorcycle and rejected the application.

"They've got to be five feet eight inches tall," said he, "but we can't handle them over six feet."
